corvaglia welcomes General Manager for US market expansion

In order to expand its global presence and to support the continuous sustainable growth of the company, corvaglia is pleased to announce its entry into the United States market with plans to build a closure manufacturing facility to complement its existing operations in Switzerland and Mexico.

To lead its US expansion, corvaglia has elected Mr. James “J.B.” Fisher to become President and General Manager of Corvaglia Closures USA Inc. As a veteran of the plastics packaging industry, Mr. Fisher brings extensive commercial experience in the beverage, food, and consumer industrial markets. Mr. Fisher has served in divisional executive leadership roles at Bemis Company, Inc. and Amcor Rigid Plastics. Mr. Fisher received his Masters of Business Administration from Georgia State University in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. Fisher began his tenure with corvaglia on June 1, 2017 and is committed to overseeing the successful US market expansion, commercializing specialized technologies, and ultimately delivering a unique value proposition to the beverage market.

Both, corvaglia and Mr. Fisher look forward to starting this exciting new chapter together.

corvaglia is a highly specialized provider of closure systems for the beverage industry. Founded in 1991, the company today employs a global total of over 260 staff at its headquarters in Eschlikon, Switzerland, and an additional manufacturing plant in Mexico.
